

The urban landscape

The photo series between modern and old architecture in London.

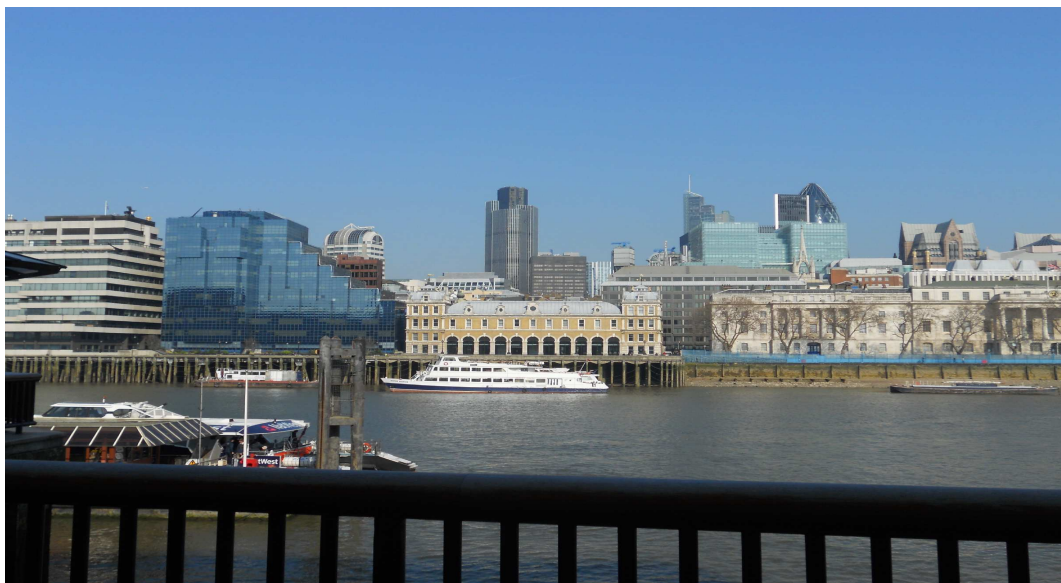

Old architecture in London.

A good example between modern and old architecture.

Modern architecture with a great deal of glass. New architecture and in the background “The Shard”

A good example: on the left there is the modern and in the middle the old architecture.

The old and untouched architecture in Camden.

The normal Victorian terraced houses with a different painting.